A SCOTTISH SPORTSWOMAN.

Our Edinburgh correspondent writes:—
The Hon. Mrs Hilda Murray of Elibank (daughter of the late Mr James Wolfe Murray of Cringleton), has written a bright and entertaining book called "Echoes of Sport." She is an all-round sportswoman, and has played the game in infinite variety.
"I must own," she says, "to a love of stalking, hunting, shooting, fishing, and (low be it spoken) poaching in any form, for which my gentler sisters may blush for me, though I aver that the pursuit of such tastes has taught me some of the best tastes has taught me some of the best lessons of life and some small store of natural lore." Her manner is delightfully chatty, as gathered from a story she tells of the fortune of the chase in a chapter entitled "The Prodigal Stag."

"Just below the top of the ridge," she writes, "is a certain small rocky balloch, a favourite haunt of stags on that ground.
There were several lying there, quiet and unsuspecting, with no hinds doing sentinel for them. We crept in very quickly to within a hundred yards. The best stag was slightly above us. After a very short time, up he got, presenting an easy broad-side target. I was comfortably settled behind a large boulder; the light was good; the rest was good; if seemed impossible to do anything else but shoot him bang through the heart. He fell to the shot, and lay for a full minute and a half, struggling to rise again. The stalker was quite satisfied all was right. I believed his word and my own eyes, though, with rifle reloaded, nothing would have been easier than to have given the animal another bullet.

Now the day's tragedy descended. The stag got to its feet, stood for an instant tail onwards, as hit stags invariably do, and trotted up the rise of ground, over the hills and far away. . . . We could only surmise that the bullet had hit him very high up on the back, scruffing the top of it, as a stag thus his always drops suddenly from shock. By the readside Long John was standing with the pony and deer saddle. He was a great, tall creature, with one eye, and had very little English. Sure of his kindly the CITY HALL, on MONDAY, the 26th interest. I said, 'Oh, John, I've lost a September, 1910, at 5.30 r.m., for the purstag!' His gaunt face lengthened another pose of receiving the Annual Report and foot, and he exclaimed in a house, horror. I held my rifle well forward, and in another moment that gallant head lay motionless on the ground, shot through the neck at seventy yards. . . Then the truth that had already dawned on the wisely slout stalker fits for ambitious men with small capital in burst on his companion. EWANGTUNG NEWS.

CANTON ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY. About a year age the Chinese Governmont, and a cortain number of rich men bought through Messrs Shewan, Tomes & Co. the plant and business of the Electric Light Company of Canton. According to the report just published the officials found five hundred thousand dollars and the business people subscribed a million. Of course there was much loss when the money was transferred into Hongkong notes. Indeed, the discount amounted to no less than one hundred and seventy thousand dollars. The income from current working each month is said to be twenty thousand dollars. About one half of this goes in coal and working expenses. There will, therefore, remain about ten thousand dollars per month for meeting the interest of eight per cent. on the original capital and for increasing the plant. The directors have notified the Viceroy of the result of the year's working, and asked that the balance sheet be forwarded to Peking with a request that the company be allowed to improve its plant, and increase its sphere of operations. This has been done, and the request granted. It seems that the company is doing very well.

AN ECHO OF COLOWAN. A Young Kong man, whose name is Chan Ki-shan, more than a year was unfortunate enough to have his house attacked by brigands. The robbers stole many things and among other valuables they carried off four of the family, mostly women, and held them for ransom. Seven thousand dollars were scraped together and handed over to the scoundrels at the paid up, that they are left unmolested. This was an exception to the rule. FIGHTING AT KOM CHUK. On the eighteenth of the Chinese month, o'clock in the morning. attack was made on some robbers near the Kom Chuk falls. The spics who knew of the lair, and who led the expedi tion, said that there were brigands among the hills of some importance, and therefore the soldiers who went out were in hopes of making a good haul, and also of getting some substantial reward. It turned that they found something quite different. It appears that the robbers had an inkling of what might be expected, and increased their numbers from other parts. When the soldiers made the attack, it was a hot reception they met with. In fact, in the fighting which ensued, for both parties used rifles as if they were the bitterest enemies, four soldiers were shot dead and seven wounded. We are not told what were the casualties on the part of the robbers, but it is known that they managed things so well that most got clear away, though the report says that twenty men were taken by the ship, which seems to imply that a gunboat went with the soldiers and that the men from gunboat managed to catch twenty of robbers. But from the tenour of report the attack seemed to have otherwise been a failure. A CURIOUS SUPERSTITION.

Everybody knows the famous Shing Wong temple in Canton where the halls of Hades are. There is also in the same street a temple with an idol which is supposed to be possessed of the gift of healing. The priest in charge has a brother, who goes | Harbour Works this forencen. by the name of "The Single Eyed Serpent," which, after the manner of the Chinese, is a nickname given because he is famous for his craftinese. On the first of the seventh Chinese month the precious pair collected some water in a jar and let it remain until it was full of filth and worms, when they blessed and sold it to foolish women and children. The virtue of the water is that when used for mixing with medicine it adds virtue to the draught, so that it is bound to be efficacious. Moreover the virtue of the water leads those who use it to believe that their lives will be prolonged to a great age. So it comes to pass that during the last few weeks, seeing that the water is now filthy enough, the run on the jar has been very great, and daily many women and girls have been buying the contonts. The crafty priced and the more crafty brother have been making a very good thing of it. A FORTUNATE CAPTURE,

On the native passage boat that ran botween Kon Shan and Sha Tau, on the thirteenth it was suspected by the soldiers that smoog the passengers was a robber who was badly wanted. On a closer inspection it was secretained that these suspicions were well grounded. The soldiers thereupon quietly arranged that at a certain point of the trip the boat should tarry amile, and the soldiers should attempt the street. This was done and they managed to beg their prey. All went quiet-

Every one rejoiced over work actually accomplished and looked forward with no less gratification to the day of complete fulfilment of a vast undertaking, which is only justifiable on the assumption that Kobe is to go shead far more and become in truth and reality that which some misguided people to-day believe her to be, namely, the greatest and the most important port of this Empire. There, the spirit of expenditure and achievement, of ambition far-reaching and practical, asserted itself; and men congratulated themselves that, whatever the faint hearted and easily discouraged may see or fear, the officials and leading Japanese can and do look forward to a day when the trade and shipping of Kobe will spring ahead once more with leaps and bounds, when grass shall no longer be seen in the streets of the old Settlement, when dwellings and offices and godowns shall not remain untenanted and unused from year to year, and when every available inch of space shall be requisitioned not for tennis lawns or unauthorised ash and garbago heaps, as cortain vacant lots here are used now, but-for the profitable and honourable ends of trade. the properties of a now medicinal properaand Blable with full Harbour Views. tion of arsonic known to the profession as 608." The Moon Chronicle says :- We LI POLUNG, are indebted to a Kobe reader for some olo Li Bro's, interesting details of this latest discovery Alexandra Buildings, Hongkong, September 23, 1910. in the world of medical science. It seems that a German and a Japanese dector are jointly responsible for the discovery of "606," the proper name of which is CODOWN No. br. DUDDEP "dichlorhydratdioxydiamidoarsenobenzol." Owing to the cumbrousness of this word. the preparation has become known among THE HONGKONG LAND INVEST the profession a "Recipe Ehrlich-Hata MENT & AGENOY Co. LD. No. 606," or, further abbreviated, "606." Dr. S. Hata is the Japanese assistant in DES VŒUX ROAD OENTRAL, corner of fee House St.

to Professor Ehrlich in his laboratory work, and shares the honour of being the co-discoverer with Professor Ehrlich of the now famous "616," Some time in June last the professor read a paper before a medical congress in Germany describinghis researches for a remedy for syphillis, and stated that with the assistance of Dr Hata he had found a preparation which he hoped would be found efficacious as a cure for this disease. He then gave his discovery to the medical world to be tested, and by the end of July it had been tried in a number of German, Austrian, and Russian hospitals with remarkable success. The Director of a Berlin hospital applied a subcutameous injection of 0.06 grammes to a child suffering from hereditary syphillis, and within ten days all signs of the maledy disappeared. The results so for obtained have exceeded the most optimistic expectations, and from Router's message it appears that the preparation is equally valuable in the treatment of tropical diseases like malaria, sleeping-sickness, and recurrent fever. Dr Hath returned to Japan not long ago and is now at Tokyo, where the remedy is being tried. From the above facts it would appear that a valuable German-Japanese alliance has been affected in the cause of medical science, and that the names of Professor Ehrlich and Dr Hata will long be remembered as rank-

In the British Consular Report on the Trade of Canton for last year, which has jus been circulated at home, is an illuminative 1052 paragraph showing how one industry i being energetically pushed in China is accordance with the most up-to-date theorie of exploitation. The report says :-

"No better illustration of the effective ness in China of modern advertisin methods and close attention to th retail business and the tastes of th native consumers can be found than th C.M.S. PEAK BUNGALOW, Mount foreign company which has by these mean almost acquired the monopoly of th OFFICE in BEACONSFIELD cigarette trade in the Far East. Pictur heardings, illuminated almanaes, presente tion samples and judicious expenditure o all kinds of advertisements likely to brin goods before the individual notice of th people are as telling in attracting the custor of the Chinese coolie as they proved in valuable at home. The company has large foreign staff, with a working know ledge of Chinese, who are constantly trave ling in the interior, introducing their war to new markets and keeping in person touch with their Chinese agents. The such methods resp a golden harvest for th 1.2, BOWEN ROAD lately occupied as company which has made the experimen Artillery Officer's Quarters. Suitable for is certain, and their example could wit advantage be followed by other firms dealir in the minor articles of the import trade. OFFICES, No. 2, CONNAUGHT Kwantung is not the only field of the Company's industry for we find the Britis A HOUSE in Wond Ner-Chong ROAL. Consul at Hankow reporting :- Cigar again increased 20 per cent. to 1,983,00 No. 10, DES VOICE ROLD CENTRAL, 1st bub their total value fell from £3,854 £3,433; and foreign (Japanese) cigarette SEMI-EUROPEAN FLATS, Moderate | 95 per cent. being second quality valued Rents, PRAYA EAST-Corner of Obser- 4s. 6d. per 1,000, rose to 103,000,000 with a total value of £27,309 Shanghai made vation Place. The Trams stop at the door. Also new EUROPEAN FLATS adjoining mostly British Cigarette Company's cigare tes-again rose from 89,200 to 107,3 lbs., valued at £9,361 (11d. an ounce while that company's Hankow facto THE HONGKONG LAND INVESTshipped about 1,150,000 lbs. of man 12 factured tobacco, representing 500,000,0 of cigarettes, besides sending some 3,500,0 Ibs. of leaf tobacco to the Shanghai facto of the company. All these figures refer cigarettes manufactured from Chine DIRECTORY tobacco, principally from the adjoining principal vince of Honan. The company compiled illustrated pamphlet on tobacco cultivati as pursued in the United States, and LINABLES traders throughout the World free distribution in the producing distri to communicate direct with English has already resulted in a considerable provement in the quality of the le under 6id. per lb., though the silver val remained unaltered. Mr Tours, the British Consul at Ame has also something to say regarding this now development. He says :- "Cigarettes were imported to the value of £4,251. They have become a very popular form of smoking among the Chinese, especially among the coolie class in spite of the fact of leading Manufacturers, Merchants, etc., that they compare expensively with opium. A packet of 10 cigarettes costs 10 c. (say, 2d. to 2 d.), whereas an equal value of opium would last the smoker for longer time and would yield after forwarded, freight paid, on receipt of Postal the smoking some 20 per cent, of dust, which can be worked up again for smoking.

A certain quantity of the cigarettes imported are of Japanese manufacture; they are made up in packets to resemble the American article as far an is convenient ly possible. But the bulk of the cigarettes imported are of British American manufacture, and are made chiefly at Shanghal | 8 As the tobacco used by the manufacturers is almost, if not quite, entirely Chinese-grown tobacco, it is questionable whether these eigerettes should properly appear conder the head of foreign imports, their only claim to inclusion in that denomin T ation being based on the sponsorable of their manufacturers. Of course this business dops not find Myour in all eyes. The Rev. O. Thwing. a prominent anti-opium lender, is prosecut

While other countries are struggling with the difficulties of dealing with sectional Governments already in existence, we are asked to plunge wantonly into the same difficulties, morely because we suffer other inconveniences which human infirmities provide under all forms of government without exception." The other side of the question . discussed by the Westminster Gazette which sets out by asking: If Irisb, heavy indeed. The squally weather has continued during the afternoon and similar Scottish, and Welsh choose to take pride in their nationality-i.e., in the history, tradition, and sentiment which they have each in common-why should we grudge it them, or commit the folly of perpetually suggesting that it is incompatible with good citizenship of the Per Doz. but action." The Spectator declares that "the real and ultimate cause of these suggestions to hasten that very desirable consum- of Constitutional revolution involving application to be filled up by the candidates may be obtained at the Hongkong since been disposed of at a price above that. Home Rule all round,' and some premature and dangerous attempt to snatch the fruit of Imperial unity before it is ripe, is the desire of certain politicians to get rid of what is in reality merely an inconvenience the worry of Irish disaffaction. But Irish disaffection is not to be eradicated in that way." "Our contemporary quotes as apropos these words of Oliver Cromwell: "And if so what do you think the consequences of that would be? Would it not be confusion? Would it not be utter confusion Would it not make England like Switzerland, one county against another as one canton of the Swiss is against anment kept in office by Scottish and other? And if so what would that produce but an absolute desolution-an absolute desolation to the nation!"

reports and accounts having been in your hands for several days I propose with your approval to take them as read. As stated at our last meeting the prospects for the year were not favourable and owing to the poor demand, and the continued advance in the price of cotton it has been extremely difficult to effect sales of yarn at a profit. At the present high prices dealers are chary of making further contracts, while the financial troubles in Shanghai, Swatow and this port have all tended to reduce deliveries of old purchases. For half the year the mill has been running on short time and we are now working only 10 hours per day. In view however of the increasing accumulation of stocks and the absence of demand the general managers are considering the advisability of further reducing the production. We have latterly been able to obtain an adequate supply of labour, but owing to changes which have been introduced to ensure more attention on the part of the workers and in the interest of economy, we have recently had considerable trouble with the hands, but I am pleased to state that they are now settling down satisfactorily on the new basis. I regret to state that our mill manager, Mr Alfred Shaw, has had to resign his position owing to ill health. Mr P. S. Jameson has been appointed mill manager in his place. The increased European supervision, referred to at our last meeting, has proved beneficia and the quality of our yarn has been conmachinery has been thoroughly overhauled and cleaned.

RAMBLING NOTES.

There , is no question about it : the public are waiting with considerable impatience for the results of the enquiry which must be held into the recent house collapses in Hongkoug. What they want to know is who really is responsible for what on the face of it looks like a wanton wasto of human life, and to learn if there are any remedial measures at all possible to guard against a repetition of these disasters. Four collapses within six weeks with a loss of nearly twenty lives brings a blush of shame to Hongkong's fair fame.

With the advent of cooler weather things again in Kowloon at 6.47 p.m., while on are getting ship-shape for the coming ordinary days the 4 p.m. train will allow of season, and there seems every indication of a nice little run being made. Taipo, which is only just a little over half an hour's Clubs have held their yearly meetings, but the League has been to the front and begun to deal with the preliminary work which every season brings.

> The outline of the League's activities as given by the Secretary at the annual meeting was most satisfactory, and it speaks GILLETTES' much for the organisation of that body that fourteen teams were last season able to pull off all their fixtures without the need of playing mid-week games. This will be especially gratifying to those who remember what constant difficulties were always cropping up in pre-League days with a far less number of Clubs to be considered. On this matter alone the GILLETTES' creation, and one now begins to wonder how on earth we manged to get along without some such organisation.

Then few will dispute the fact that the League has tended to the elevation of the standard of football in the Colony. This, indeed, in my opinion, has been it chief function. In the olden days all that teams had on which to centre interest was the Shield Competition, and once knocked out of that there was an end to their hopes for the rest of the season." Now with the two Divisions of the League going in addition to the Shield contests there is plenty of scope for players. The football public, like most other sections of humanity, has a very short memory, and is apt to take all these improvements without much thought Circulating Library. of the ones to whom they are due. It needed a stickler for work and a warrier for overcoming initial apathy to start the League on its career, and such a one was found in Mr Storrie, the present Secretary, who was the pioneer in the matter. I hope the many who are now able to enjoy the benefits of his forethought and hard work will always remember their indebtedness to him.

As to the League prospects it seems that there will be five and possibly six teams in the First Division. The doubtful one will be either Kowloon or Naval Yard. If the 304,461.63 No. 6 train runs on week days & Sundays. Intter cannot raise a team—as thas been suggested-then there appears to be some PURE DRUGS. possibility of Kowloon securing the services of two or three of the naval men who last year figured so prominently for the Yard. Really the decison of the Naval Yard will decide the matter, for if they intend to get together an eleven it is more than likely that Kowloon will have to lie low for want of players. This is a matter which time alone can answer. The other teams will be the same as last year. .

OPENING OF THE WESLEYAN CHAPEL AT FATSHAN.

(By a Special Corre pondent.)

The city of Fatshan, with its population of 500,000 inhabitants, might be described as the Birmingham of South China, for nearly every important industry is represented there. It is also noted for the possession of a well-equipped and thoroughly up to date hospital, which is connected with the Wesleyan Mission. The Hospital buildings are too well known to require description and it is not particularly of the Hospital that we wish to speak. It is rather of the new Hospital chapel which was successfully opened on Sept. 21, for this is the latest and most important addition to this go-a-head mission. The chapel is rol striking appearance, being built entirely in accordance with Holy Communion at 8 a.m. Chinese ideas. It is highly decorated Morning Service at 11 a.m. within and without. Some of the interior | Children's Service at 3 p.m. decoration, which represents dragons, Evening Service at 6 p.m. tigers, deer and other animals, seems some. what startling to the European visitor, but it accords with the sesthetic taste of the Chinaman, and ad, the building was erected for the benefit of the Chinese it is well that their taste in such matters has received such consideration. The Papel is 60ft. by 40ft. and provides sitting accommodation for nearly 500 people. There are three large vestries, with rooms above suitable for the residence of a Chinese pastor. The cost of the building has been the Hospital income together with $2,000 from Chinese subscriptions. Dr Webb Anderson, the superintendent of the Mission, and Dr A. Evening: 8 p.m. Hooker, his colleague, are to be most heartily congratulated upon the successful achievement. When it is remembered that all the Hospital income is raised in small sums the erection of the chapel is a testimony to the hard work and devotion of the doctors. On Sept. 21st the proceedings opened by a short meet- German Service at 11 a.m. Paster Johaning held in the Hospital Entrance which has hitherto been used as a temporary Chapel. A procession then formed and marched to the new place of worship, the door of which was formally opened by Mr Li Ip Kwai, one of the most devoted and enthusiastic members of the church. An immense congregation of Christians from this and other churches poured into the 10.30 a.m. Conference of St. Vincent de building. The church had been most tastefully decorated with flags and garlands. Rich coloured tropical plants down the centre of the building leng an additional heauty to the scene. Dr Webb Anderson opened a very inspiring sorvice, in which Rev. E. Dowstoe and Rev. Lan Ha Chun took part. In the middle of the service Rev. S. G. Tope conducted four of the chief officials of the city into the and impressed by the crowded congregation.

for native preaching. Dr. Anderson again conducted the service and delivered an inpressive address. His brother, Rev.

H. E. Anderson, of Wuchow, and others, Dr Anderson and his co-workers are to be most heartily congratulated upon the completion of this enterprise. The pros-pects are very bright for the mission. The opportunity is great. Pastors and people seem thoroughly alive to their responsibility.

ITEMS AT THE COURTS.

John Grant was again before Mr J. R. Wood at the Magistracy this morning on the false pretences charge, and was remanded until Tuesday afternoon.

Once again the seven Colowan pirates captured at Dumbell Island were brought before Mr E, R. Hallifax to-day. They were remanded until Tuesday, when the Chinese Government, who are asking for their extradition, will probably be in a position to offer evidence.

The police raided premises at 198, Hellywood Road yesterday afternoon and arrested no fewer than 17 Chinese women of varying degrees of respectability who were caught gambling at fan-tan. They were brought before Mr J. R. Wood at the Magistracy to-day, the first two being fined $100 each as keepers, two others who had previously been convicted $25 and the rest advice and took two bottles of his medicine, but they did no good. Then ment. Upon the first application I was greatly surprised at the results, for I got great ease from it. I immediately sent for a set of the Cutioura Remedies and followed the treatment carefully. In three weeks, after using two sats of Cuticurs. I was perfectly cured. I have used Cuticura Scap ever since, especially for shaving, and as long as I am able to buy it I intend to use no other. My wonderful cure by Cuticura was such a bard to have you blessing that I shall be glad to have you publish my simple testimonial so as to bring the Cutioura Remedies to the notice of other skin sufferers. Wm. V. Baker, 23, North Bridge St., Monkwearmouth, Sunderland, Eng., Dec. 24, '09."

For preserving, purifying and beau-tifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands, for clearing the complexion, for itching, scaly scalps with dry, thin and falling hair, for torturing, disfiguring eczemas, rushes, itchings and irritations and for sanative, antiseptic cleansing, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are un-rivaled in purity, efficacy and economy. A single tablet of Cuticura Scop and box of Cuti-cura Omiment are often sufficient to cure. Depots: London, 27.
